Host of holiday happenings: do it all with 'flair'

WEEK two of FLAIR's school holiday programme kicks off today at 10 am with skateboard demonstrations by the six current champions who arrived in Johannesburg from Durban on Thursday.

Today you can see them in action at Sandton City (below the Esso Service Station) at 10 am, 12 and 3 pm, and tomorrow at the same times at Hyde Park Shopping Centre.

Watch FLAIR for further details of venues for the rest of the week.

On Thursday, FLAIR will take you to the Johannesburg zoo. Transport will be provided but children must pay the zoo admission fee. Those interested should phone the Rand Daily Mail, 28-1500, ext 236.

Friday, will see all music lovers happy. The exciting contemporary group "Sheriff" will perform at the Market Theatre from 2 to 4 pm. Get your tickets now, at only 40c each, from the Rand Daily Mail, 171 Main Street, Johannesburg.

If you would like information of other interesting school holiday events, make sure not to miss FLAIR.

Nine-year-old Annita Hsiung, who played the piano at the Rand Daily Mail's talent contest last week, was voted the overall winner by judge Ashley Parker, (right), the well-known singer and songwriter.
